IMPORTANT INFORMATION

For reasons of safety, glassware must NOT be taken into any part of the auditorium.

Latecomers will be admitted at the first convenient moment provided that no interruption or distraction to the performers might be caused.

All gangways, passageways and stairways must be kept free from obstruction. Persons are not permitted to sit or stand in any gangway.

The taking of photographs and the making of sound and/or visual recordings in the auditorium are not permitted.

An infra-red hearing assistance system is available in the auditorium but not in the Coward Room. Personal systems with a T-switch will require an additional unit available in the foyer. 'In ear' headsets are also available.

Wheelchair positions are available in both stalls and the balcony. The Box Office Manager will be happy to discuss your requirements.

TTC Ltd, as managers of the theatre, reserves the right to refuse admission and to make alterations to the programme and cast without notice.

Noël Coward

(16th December 1899 to 26th March 1973)

Noël Coward was born in Teddington. He started writing in his teens and published more than 50 plays and composed 100s of songs and over a dozen musical theatre works, screenplays, poetry, several volumes of short stories, a novel and a three-volume autobiography. Coward's stage, film, acting and directing career spanned six decades. During the war, he ran the British propaganda office in Paris and he also worked with the secret service. He was knighted in 1969.

In the 1920s and 30s, Coward wrote a succession of popular hits ranging from operetta - Bitter Sweet (1929) to Cavalcade (1931) which required large cast/sets/hydraulic staging to intimate comedies such as Private Lives (1930) and Design for Living (1932). Coward starred alongside Gertrude Lawrence. He said, following Private Lives he realised the public enjoyed seeing him and Lawrence on stage together. So, he wrote the 10 short plays as an acting, singing and dancing vehicle for Gertrude and himself.

These became the famous Tonight @ 8.30, first produced in 1935 in Manchester and then toured in London (1936), New York (1936-37) and Canada (1938).

The plays were performed in various combinations of three at each performance during the original run. They included...

We Were Dancing
Red Peppers
Fumed Oak
Family Album
Still Life

The Astonished Heart
Hands Across the Sea
Shadow Play
Ways and Means
Star Chamber

Tonight we perform two of these one act plays, totally contrasting, but subtly connected.

Still Life

The bittersweet tale of a clandestine affair, that became Coward's classic film, Brief Encounter, starring Trevor Howard and Celia Johnson in 1945 directed by David Lean (also featuring Stanley Holloway and Joyce Carey). Laura and Alec are two utterly English star-crossed lovers trapped in passionless marriages, yearning to break free.

Red Peppers

Stuck in a love-hate relationship, are song and dance duo George and Lily Pepper. On their way down the ladder of success, their vaudeville duos provide the musical counterpoint to their non-stop squabbling and petty feuds. Noël Coward wrote both the music and lyrics of this very funny piece.

Some of them are not chronologically correct (i.e. were written after these pieces were published). However I wanted to make this production a true celebration of Noël Coward, especially as we are so privileged to be the first to perform his plays in the studio theatre named in his honour.

Coward died in his home "Firefly Estate" in Jamaica of heart failure and was buried three days later, on the brow of Firefly Hill overlooking the Blue Mountains.

Mandy Stenhouse

"But I believe that, since my life began, the most I've had is just a talent to amuse, heigh ho, if love were all"

Cast Biographies

Tracy
Frankson

Tracy joined TTC in 1998 to play Trixie Martin in Daisy Pulls It Off at the Vera Fletcher Hall. Over the years she has also enjoyed performing with RSS, Q2, St. Mary's Drama Group and OHADS. Her favourite roles have been wheelchair-bound Girl in Just Afloat, written by our very own talented Ken Mason, pollen-struck Dorothy in Stepping Out, lovelorn Catherine Sloper in The Heiress, and the exuberant "OAP" Celia in Love Me Slender. Most recently for TTC she had great fun as northern librarian Beryl in From Here to the Library.

Charles makes his third appearance for TTC following Muswell Hill and The Pillowman. He has appeared in numerous productions across London and at the Edinburgh Fringe including Clybourne Park with Putney Arts, The School for Scandal with Urgent Breath, Julius Caesar with Southside Theatre and The Libertine with KDC. He writes for his own theatre company, producing a new work in 2018 at Hampton Hill Theatre. When not daydreaming of an Olivier Award, Charles is a surveyor.

Charlie
Golding

Samantha
McGill

Samantha is from London, and has quite recently joined TTC. She is really looking forward to playing another strong female character. She was last seen on the TTC stage as the Wicked Stepmother in last year's award-winning pantomime Cinderella. Still Life is Samantha's first play with TTC and she is enjoying every minute of playing the character Myrtle Bagot. The railway refreshment manageress, Myrtle, is a great example of Noël Coward's clever and humorous writing.

Rachel has thoroughly enjoyed her first year performing with TTC, appearing in The Cat's Meow and most recently French Twist. Between these productions, she performed with Richmond Shakespeare Society, playing Masha in The Seagull and Jane Seymour in The Regina Monologues, as well continuing to take production photographs for both societies. Previously, she has worked backstage and onstage for a number of productions while at Royal Holloway University and at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival.

Rachel Burnham

Hana
Jennings

Hana has loved and studied performing arts from a young age, joining a stage school from the age of four. She recently finished college and left with an Extended Diploma in Acting. She has performed on the Donmar Warehouse stage and has enjoyed playing roles such as Mother Courage, one of the Witches from Macbeth and Mrs Whitaker. Her last role was in her end of year production where she played five characters in The Laramie Project. She is a fan of Noël Coward and is very much looking forward to playing Mildred tonight.

This is Alex's second production with TTC after playing the role of Luke Parsons in the Swan Award winning Jerusalem. He has also most recently been seen playing Master Slender in YAT's production of The Merry Wives of Windsor which performed at the Edinburgh Fringe this summer. He has enjoyed working on both Still Life and Red Peppers and with this incredibly talented company and hopes that you enjoy both his performances.

Alex Farley

Diane Slater

Diane started amateur dramatics in 2007, enjoying playing several roles in Gilbert and Sullivan shows with Knaphill and St. John's Operatic Group. More recently Diane has sung and acted in Molesey Musical Theatre's productions, the last one being Dirty Rotten Scoundrels in June. In the last ten years Diane has performed in Addlestone's Jazz concerts and played various roles in their shows and pantomimes. Diane's love of the film Brief Encounter and the work of Noël Coward, and knowing TTC's excellent reputation, made her decide to audition for Still Life. She is very excited to be playing the part of Dolly Messiter.

Andy has been involved in local drama for many years, and has recently specialised in roles based upon real people. He has enjoyed portraying such diverse personalities as Tony Hancock, Hangman Albert Pierrepoint and Nazi Gerhard Klopfer, although not at the same time! His last role in a Noël Coward play was as Frank Gibbons in This Happy Breed. Andy recently co-directed Breadcrumbs for TTC in the Coward Studio, and is thrilled to be given the opportunity to get his hands on Myrtle's wares this evening, if no-one is looking...

Andy Smith

Gwithian
Evans

Gwithian is excited to perform in this production as it is his debut in a TTC show. Gwithian has been a member of the Rose Young Company in Kingston and since the beginning of this year has been a member of YAT. Work at the Rose Theatre includes Edmund in The Lion, The Witch and The Wardrobe and First Narrator in A Christmas Carol. Other theatre credits include Immortal and The Merry Wives of Windsor at the Edinburgh Fringe and Khlestakov in YAT's The Government Inspector.

This is Josh's first TTC production having studied Film and Theatre Studies at University, where he was heavily involved in the drama society in both acting and directing roles. These included King Lear in King Lear, Mr Mushnik in Little Shop of Horrors and directing Tartuffe (Edinburgh Fringe). Since 2013 Josh has been an active member of YAT, most recently directing The Government Inspector and appearing as Dr Caius in their Edinburgh Fringe production of The Merry Wives of Windsor. Josh is very much looking forward to getting more involved in TTC in the future.

MUSICAL DIRECTOR
BERTRAM BENTLEY

George & Lily are the 3rd generation Red Peppers, following in the footsteps of George & Florrie and George & Kate (who before forming Red Peppers was a renowned circus act in her own right). Born in the proverbial trunk, George first trod the boards as a child, assisting the magicians and other speciality acts appearing on the same bill as his parents. He had a promising career as a stand-up comedian and singer and was performing at the prestigious Coliseum Theatre in London when he met Lily, a student of Miss Italia Conti and at that time a member of The Moonlight Maids dance troupe. Following their marriage George took the opportunity to revive the Red Peppers, dormant since George and Florrie Pepper retired to Southport to open a theatrical guest house in the 1920's. The Red Peppers have achieved fame (some would say notoriety) on both northern and southern variety circuits. For the last five years they have worked exclusively for Larry Goldcourt Theatres in the North West of England, apart from a brief residency at the Queen's Theatre, Poplar. They take up a new contract at Cromer Pier, supporting the new generation of Moonlight Maids (the "Maidens") following pantomime in Barnsley.

Miss Mabel Grace is best known for her stage work in a career that has covered appearances in plays by Shakespeare, Sheridan, Congreve, Wilde, and Shaw. Her West End debut was in a poorly received play but Miss Grace was praised: 'In the very small part of a maid Miss Grace made the success of the afternoon. She put more into her few moments than most of our approved 'stars' can suggest in leading parts.' A critic wrote of her role in a restoration comedy, 'The main pleasure of the evening was due to Miss Grace in a role in which she excelled'; Miss Grace's career began with Henry Irving's company and she is delighted to now be appearing for your pleasure in the new genre of variety.

Bertram Bentley was originally a trombonist who trained for two weeks at the Royal Manchester College of Music before venturing to London to seek his fortune. During his time "down south" Bert worked briefly as a trombonist with the Ambrose Orchestra, but was replaced by Ted Heath. After short stints in most of the orchestra pits of East London, originally running into George and Lily Pepper in the bar of the Queen's Theatre, Poplar, Bert returned to the north of England. He utilised the skills learned in London to reinvent himself as a conductor and musical director and now surrounds himself with like-minded musicians and is under contract to Larry Goldcourt Theatres.

Edward St John Edwards, a native of Accrington and lifelong supporter of Accrington Stanley FC, Mr Edward St John Edwards is a protégé of Larry Goldcourt, having started out as a stage door runner at the age of 12. He has worked his way up through the company, working in a variety of administrative and other backstage roles and is in the unique position of being the only employee to have worked for a short time in each of the Goldcourt Theatres. Mr Edwards left Goldcourt’s employ to join the management trainee scheme of the Moss Empires Group but soon realised that his particular talents would be best employed in more familiar surroundings. He has been manager of The Palace of Varieties Theatre Hampton for 22 years.

Alf Higginbottom is originally from South London. He began his theatrical apprenticeship at the Karsino, Taggs Island as part of Fred Karno’s Army. Following the theatre’s demise, Alf travelled north with the Silver Swordsmen, a knife throwing and sword swallowing act. Sadly, due to an unfortunate incident at the Derby Hippodrome the Swordsmen are no longer and Alf decided that his future lay backstage. He has been a call boy for Goldcourt Theatres for some three years and hopes to progress to the heady heights of Stage Doorkeeper of The Palace of Varieties within the decade.
